

I THINK I'M GONNA KILL MYSELF

Little Things That Make Me Say

these are my opinions and my opinions alone. if you happen to agree, great! if you don't, sorry!

ONIONS.NEOCITIES.ORG

Post haste!

GREAT HEAVENS!

What a delightful and informative publication. I must say!

Pray, if you perchance are seeking more content of a similar breed, then you must journey towards

PEOPLE WHO WAIT FOR CARS TO MOVE FIRST AT INTERSECTIONS

I know you think you're being courteous, but you truly, honestly, are not.

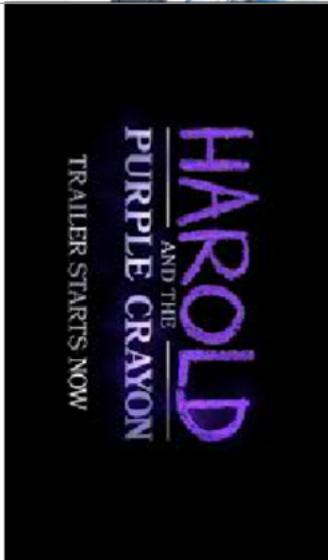

If you are at an intersection, DRIVE AT THE SAME TIME AS THE PARALLEL LANE! Do NOT wait for the car at your left/right side goes first! YOU are making the process so much longer.

YOU ARE NOT BEING COURTEOUS!

"cool kids"

this isn't another "gen alpha bad" rant, but i really hate it when little kids try to do things they think older kids do, when it's just weird interpretations of what they themselves think is what adults do, blended with what they like and how they behave. i know everyone goes through something like this at one point or another (including me), but it just comes off as weird as an observer. it felt weird for me to do it when i did it.

TRAILERS BEFORE MOVIE TRAILERS

You ever notice how movie trailers have, like, trailers for the trailer before the actual trailer begins? Why? Why did movie studios start doing that? What prompted that? Who in the history of cinema ever said "this trailer is great, but it really needs a little slideshow saying 'trailer starts now' accompanied by loud drum sounds and clips from the movie inbetween the slides!" I don't get it. It's weird, awkward, and cringey. It kinda makes me not want to watch the trailer. Also, for whatever reason, it's only on internet promotions, but not seen in the actual theaters. It makes no sense at all.

SALT.

that moment when you're eating something and you put salt on it, but you add way too much salt to it and it suddenly tastes like you put a handful of salt into your mouth. it's awful.

A.I. GENERATED GARBAGE

I know this is kinda on-the-nose, but it's just so easy to hate this crap. I cannot think of a single reasonable reason to use AI, especially AI generated images. "Look! ChatGPT made a photo of me based on what I told it!" "I turned my dog into a person with AI!" Bro, I do not care. You wasted thousands of gallons of water and ruining the environment. Nobody wants this garbage. You are just a lazy narcissist.

444K

9.5K comments 1.1K shares